

University of Haifa
School of Archaeology and Maritime Cultures
Call for Applications – Tenure-Track Position

Archaeology of the Bronze and Iron Ages in the Levant and Neighboring Regions

The School of Archaeology and Maritime Cultures (SAMC) at the University of Haifa, Israel, invites applications for a tenure track position in the Archaeology of the Bronze and Iron Ages in the Levant and neighboring regions, starting in October 2022. The newly established SAMC comprises the Departments of Archaeology and Maritime Civilizations with two new departments planned to be established within three years – Archaeological Sciences and Preservation, Heritage and Museology in Archaeology.

We are seeking candidates with proven academic excellence in their fields of expertise. Specifically, we are looking for candidates with strong background in the archaeology of the Levant, including the Northern Levant, and the archaeology of the eastern Mediterranean, as well as projects involving archaeological sciences.

Applicants must have a Ph.D., with publications in prominent refereed journals and (preferably) post-doc research. They must demonstrate excellence and originality in research and proven experience in grant applications and field projects. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the equivalent of 16 credits per year, including undergraduate and graduate-level courses. In principle, the language of teaching is Hebrew; non-Hebrew speakers will be allowed to teach in English for a limited period. The candidate will be expected to supervise theses and carry usual nonteaching duties. Affiliation with a relevant department in the SAMC will be decided in a later stage.

Please submit a dossier: Cover letter (up to 2 pages, including an academic biography, research plans, and proposed course titles); CV and list of publications; sample/s of writing (up to a total of 8,000 words). Application materials in PDF should be emailed to Ms. Galith Aghion at gaghion@univ.haifa.ac.il. Please have three reference letters sent directly to this address. Deadline for application: September 30th 2021. Interviews with shortlisted candidates are expected shortly thereafter.